

Shepherd's Corner
ECOLOGY CENTER

Shepherd's Corner Ecology Center presents:

SEEDS

Documentary & Community Conversation

SEEDS is a Sundance-winning, lyrical documentary of Black farmers, legacy, and land. Explore the lives of Black generational farmers, the unjust history of land ownership, and panel discussion with local Black farmers creating new legacies today.

Panelists:

Moderator: Holly Moten Fidler

M.A. in Social Justice & Public Theology (MASJ/MAPT) student at the Methodist Theological School in Ohio (MTSO) and Seminary Hill Farm worker

Julialynne Walker

Food Sovereignty Advocate and Market Manager Bronzeville Growers Market

Minister Aaron Hopkins

Visionary Farmer Planner of South Side Family Farms and Executive Director of ICANDO Community Development

Jada Terry

Founder of Mizizi Farm and Fresh Roots 614

Event Details:

Friday, April 24

5 - 9 PM

Matesich Theater in Erskine Hall,
Ohio Dominican
University

5 pm: Doors Open + Refreshments served. Informal Meet and Greet with Panelists and Guests

6 pm: Opening + Panel Discussion

7 pm: SEEDS Screening

FREE ENTRY!
Registration Required

Sponsored by Ohio Dominican University and ODU Black Students Union
Shepherdscorner.org | scecolgycenter@oppeace.org | 614.866.4302